

The 5th China Conference on the Development of Basic Medical Sciences & the 1st Symposium on Aging and Health

1. About the conference

The 5th China Conference on the Development of Basic Medical Sciences & the 1st Symposium on Aging and Health will be held on September 20–22, 2026, at the No. 1 Auditorium of Peking Union Medical College in Beijing. Inaugurated in 1921, the auditorium is a landmark venue that has witnessed many important events in the history of Peking Union Medical College and modern medicine in China.

The conference is expected to bring together approximately 200 participants, including leaders, scholars, principal investigators, clinician-scientists, and students from the institutes affiliated with the Chinese Academy of Medical Sciences & Peking Union Medical College (CAMS & PUMC), as well as leading medical universities and research institutions across China, such as Peking University, Tsinghua University, Fudan University, and Shanghai Jiao Tong University.
